

Get to know some of the highly popular teenage party games for girls!

Party games for girls are highly popular and they are going to make the teen party a hit. The problem is that most people have no idea what to play when such a moment arrives. It is not pleasant to sit in a room and get bored as nobody knows a fun game to play. The good news is that there are some teenage party games for girls that are always going to be a hit. You might want to know them in order to avoid the possibility of having such dull blank moments at your party.

One of the most popular party games for girls is Secret Wishes. It is extremely popular at a slumber party. You are going to need enough flashlights for all the guests and before the party starts you have to cut out different paper stars. On every single one you need to add the name of a guest and hide all in your backyard. When midnight arrives the guests will need to go into the backyard and use the flashlights. The guests will need to find the stars and then will be able to make a special, secret wish that is going to come true. You can add a lot of variation to this game and add the stars somewhere in the house. The idea is to use the flashlights in order to find them. The game can be continued by trying to guess the wishes that the girls made.

You might want to also play Kiss the Cutie. Two posters should be hung on a wall. One of them is a picture of a popular musician or actor and the other one is a picture of a person that the host thinks is 'uncool'. Both posters should be hung close to each other. The girls will need to wear a thick coat of lipstick and the first girl is going to be blindfolded. Spin her around and watch her try to end up kissing the cutie. It is a guarantee that the girls will have a lot of fun as some will make the mistake of kissing the 'uncool' guy.

Another really popular option if you are looking for party games for girls is Fashion Designs. Get some scrap fabrics from a local discount fabric store or from a second hand store. You should look for really funny fabrics and also buy buttons, ribbon, scissors, glue guns and even thread and needle. The girls need to break up into 2 or 3 teams and will have to create a new fashion design with the items that are bought. The crazier the items, the funnier the designs that are going to be created!

About the Author

Make sure that you also talk to other people to find even more party games for girls. These are just the most popular but there are hundreds of others that you might like. Remember that different people have different tastes and you should choose those great party ideas that are going to be appealing for most of your guests.

Source: <http://receivedtext.org>